

LICHTERMAN NATURE CENTER

5992 Quince Road
Memphis, TN 38119

Located in the heart of Memphis, Lichterman Nature Center has lush gardens featuring native wildflowers and trees set in the midst of 65 acres of lake, meadow, and forest. Home to a wide variety of plants, birds, reptiles, amphibians and mammals, Lichterman is an urban nature center, easily accessible to people who live in the city.

A certified arboretum, Lichterman has the convenience of extensive handicap-accessible indoor and outdoor facilities for use during all types of weather. The Backyard Wildlife Center features live animals, hands-on explorations, microscopic discoveries, a forest boardwalk three stories high, and underwater viewing area. The Visitor Center provides exhibits focusing on the theme of metamorphosis and change as revealed by the site's main three habitats: lake, meadow, and forest. There is three miles of accessible trails that wind and loop through representative Mid-south habitats, punctuated by conveniently located rest stops.

Visitors can enjoy nature walks, wildlife programs, and many other activities designed to expose and build connections between the participants and the natural surroundings.
